MARY BUDDEN ESTATE

ESTD. 1899

Nestled in breath-taking natural surroundings, Mary Budden Estate is a space of awakening in the primeval forests of Binsar. It is one of the last virgin expanses of wilderness in the Himalayas. Bought in 1899 by Ms. Mary Budden herself, and converted into a school for local orphans, the estate lay derelict until nearly a hundred years later when Serena Chopra- a Delhi-based photographer and writer, purchased the property and turned it into her mountain home.
