Island Advisory

MONKEY-FRIENDLY REMINDERS

ALWAYS CLOSE & LOCK YOUR DOOR WHEN LEAVING YOUR ROOM. Our mini-bar snacks are so tasty that even monkeys can't resist.

DO NOT LEAVE ANY VALUABLES UNATTENDED AT THE VERANDA. Keep a close eye on your valuables. Our clever, curious monkey neighbors are always on the lookout for something shiny or new. Phones, cameras, and anything that catches their eye might just become their next playful prize.

DO NOT FEED THE MONKEYS Monkeys play a vital role in our ecosystem by dispersing seeds and helping to fertilize the forest. Feeding them may harm their health and upset the delicate balance of island life. Plus, offering food teaches them that they're in charge—and trust us, you don't want a monkey thinking it's the boss of you.

DO TAKE LONG-RANGE PHOTOS INSTEAD OF SELFIES. Doing so keeps you safe and will not alter their natural behavior. Just like you, they love Pangulasian Island for the privacy it offers.

For any concerns with Pangulasian's resident Philippine Native Long-tailed Macaques (Macaca fascicularis philippinensis), please dial "0" for Front Desk assistance.

JELLYFISH & PLANKTON

With the tide and current bringing in nutrient-rich waters, more plankton (including jellyfish larvae) and adult jellyfish can be expected from December to February. To avoid getting stung by its stinging cells called nematocysts, guests are advised to:

WEAR PROTECTIVE CLOTHING
such as rash guards.

SHOWER UPON REMOVAL OF SWIMWEAR
as larvae can get trapped underneath bathing suits.

IF STUNG, our marine sports guides are equipped with vinegar for first aid treatment. For additional relief, our resort doctor can provide calamine cream and antihistamine tablets.

IF YOU WISH TO LEARN MORE ABOUT THESE INTERESTING CREATURES, you may also speak with our Environmental Officers.

SNORKELING ETIQUETTE

Become a guardian of the ocean in conservation by following these simple guidelines.

KEEP CALM AND FLOAT ON

Wear your lifejacket and maintain steady buoyancy. Swim gently and observe marine life from a respectful distance—this calm approach helps our sea friends feel safe and undisturbed.

FISH FOR INFORMATION

Dive deeper into the underwater world by learning about the incredible creatures you encounter. Borrow our reference books or chat with our expert guides and resident Environmental Officers to enrich your snorkeling experience.

LEAVE NOTHING BUT BUBBLES

Protect the ocean by never leaving litter behind. Help our fish and turtle friends by picking up any trash you spot while snorkeling—every small act counts.

BE SAFE AND GO REEF-SAFE

Choose sunscreens free from harmful chemicals like oxybenzone and ethylhexyl methoxycinnamate to protect delicate coral reefs. Always check your sunscreen's ingredients before applying.

SNORKEL WITH A BUDDY

For your safety, always snorkel with a buddy, whether it's a guide, friend, or fellow traveler. Watching out for each other ensures a worry-free adventure traveler.

RESPECT THE CORALS—DON'T KICK OR STEP ON THEM

Corals are living animals, often taking centuries to grow just a meter. Avoid standing on or kicking corals to prevent damage and harmful siltation.

LEAVE NATURE AS YOU FIND IT

Resist the temptation to collect shells, sand, corals, or marine creatures as souvenirs. Each element plays a vital role in the ecosystem—take only memories and leave only footprints.

DON'T ANCHOR ON THE REEF

Ensure your boat anchors safely away from coral reefs. If you notice destructive practices, report them immediately to your guides or the resident Environmental Officer.

TEN EL NI-DOS

At our core, we believe that true hospitality begins with honoring the natural world. We invite every guest to join us in protecting El Nido's breathtaking environment by embracing this code of conduct – a commitment to responsible tourism that nurtures both nature and community.

DO admire the corals but remember that they are very delicate – damaged when touched, stood upon, or walked on.

DO treat the island's terrestrial and marine creatures with the same kindness and respect you would show to people, honoring their space and natural rhythms.

DO take home everything you bring to El Nido – especially plastics and non-biodegradable waste. Beach litter threatens the ecosystem and spoils the pristine shores we all cherish.

DO help preserve El Nido's crystal-clear waters, powder-white sands, and lush forests by disposing of cigarette butts, aluminum cans, and plastic wrappers properly. These items harm wildlife when mistaken for food and linger for generations.

DO engage warmly with the local community, appreciating their rich culture and traditions while honoring their way of life.

DO marvel at the unique marine and land formations without disturbing them, leaving nature's art untouched for future visitors. Remember, even the seemingly endless shells on the beach are finite treasures.

DO recognize that every element of El Nido's ecosystem is connected – each organism and object plays a vital role in maintaining balance.

DO commit personally to living ethically and sustainably, for the sake of ourselves, our children, and the generations to come.

DO embrace the responsibility to protect and restore our Earth, understanding that what we give to nature, nature returns in kind.

DO respect all forms of life and the limits of El Nido's ecosystem. Together, through mindful actions, we can ensure that this paradise remains as rich and vibrant as it is today.
